ARMY'S SHARE IN DEFENSE PROGRAM

Secretary Garrison Proposes to Strongly Reinforce That Branch of Service

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—An outline of the army's part in the national defense program to be submitted to congress in December by the administration was made public last night by Secretary Garrison, disclosing for the first time details of the plan to raise a great continental, or citizen, army to supplement the regular establishment.

In brief, it is proposed to increase the regular army from 100,000 to 141,843 officers and men (changing the term of enlistment from four years with the colors and three years on furlough to two years with the colors and four years on furlough); to organize a federal citizen army of 400,000 (to be enlisted 123,000 a year for three years); to strengthen the state militia by increased appropriations and closer co-operation; and to spend $20,000,000 a year for four years on coast defenses and $25,000,000 a year for four years in the accumulation of reserve material for use by a force of 500,000 men.

Mr. Garrison says that the framers of the new policy are fully conscious of the possibility of formulating military policies much better in theory, but that "after concentrated consideration of existing legal and other conditions they think it will be found that almost insuperable objections and difficulties arise in carrying into practical operation suggestions that from the military standpoint might otherwise be very acceptable.

LEAVES WORD: "I'M GOING OVER THE DIVIDE; DON'T FOLLOW ME"

Samuel E. Fish committed suicide yesterday in a tunnel a short distance from Olinghouse, in a most sensational manner—by laying his head on a stick of dynamite to which a lighted fuse and percussion cap had been attached, says the Journal. Fish was left in charge of a store belonging to his brother, Charles A. Fish, while the latter was visiting in San Francisco. Wednesday afternoon patrons of the store found the place of business open and discovered a note left upon the counter, which read: "I am going over the divide; don't follow me." Investigation was made and Fish was traced to a tunnel about two miles from Olinghouse, where the searchers found the mangled body and the evidence of the explosion which bore silent testimony of the method employed for his self-effacement.

The statement reveals that in the preparation of their plans the war department officials have called into consultation specialists in various lines of private industry.

For the next fiscal year, when it is proposed to put this new policy into operation, congress will be asked to appropriate $182,717,036; the second year the amount will be $212,815,879; the third, $228,315,879, and annually thereafter if the policy were continued without change, the budget would be $182,234,559.

The additions to the regular army contemplated are ten regiments of infantry, four regiments of field artillery, 52 regiments of coast artillery, 15 companies of engineers and four aero squadrons, to be brought in half next year and half the following year.

This plan when completed would place in the Panama Canal zone, Hawaiian Islands, the Philippines and Alaska, 1,453 officers and 47,456 enlisted men. In the continental United States there would be in the regular establishment 2956 officers and 66,968 men, including eleven and two-thirds regiments of cavalry, twenty-six and two-thirds regiments of infantry, seven regiments of field artillery, 170 companies of coast artillery and about 4000 officers and men in engineer and signal corps.
